

What is the NAMI Homefront Education Program?

NAMI Homefront is a free education program for family, friends and significant others of Military Service Members and Veterans with mental health conditions. It focuses on the unique needs of military and veteran communities, such as post-deployment and post-discharge transitions.

The course is designed to help family members understand and support their loved one while maintaining their own well-being. The trained teachers of this course are also family members and know what it is like to have a loved one living with mental illness.

NAMI Maryland in partnership with the VA Maryland Health Care System will offer the NAMI Homefront Education Program on three consecutive Saturdays beginning September 17, 2016 at the Loch Raven location!

Registration is required; please call 410-884-8691.

Participant Perspectives

NAMI Homefront is based on the evidence-based NAMI Family-to-Family Education Program, which has been used in VA health facilities since the late 1990s.

"You realize that he will never be the same having been through war. I learned how to treat him more as an adult than as a hurt child."

— Mother of a Veteran in Ohio after graduating from a NAMI Family-to-Family VA class
